FAITH ALIVE — WHAT WE DO ON SUNDAYS

Ever wonder why we begin worship "in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit?" Or why we confess our sins? Or sing hymns? And speaking of hymns, what is "the hymn of praise?" Or the kyrie? This fall, Pastor Lose will guide us through an exploration on the various parts that make up our worship service, sharing some of the history, traditions, and present-day importance of our worship service. Tune in, listen, and expect that Sunday worship will never be the same for you again!

BE AVAILABLE AT MTOLIVET.ORG!

What Next, Mount Olivet?

Recently, I came across some pictures of our kids when they were just learning to walk. In one of them, our son Jack has his hands gripped tightly around my thumbs, as I stand above him helping him take his first tottering steps. Looking at that picture, it struck me that Jack and I probably had very different perspectives of what was going on in that moment. To Jack, it likely seemed that everything depended on him holding fast to my thumbs, and of course his firm grip helped him keep his balance. At the same time, I knew that whether he held on or not, the rest of my hands were wrapped around his little wrists and I would never let him fall.

I think that's a pretty good image of the life of faith. What we do matters! Our attendance at worship, our participation in events, our prayers for our congregation, our generosity to support our mission – all of these efforts strengthen our ministry and make a difference. At the same time, we confess – and give thanks! – that God is always present, guiding, leading, and supporting us in our work to be the congregation God and the world need us to be. Certainly that has been our experience over the previous eighteen months. The creativity and resilience of our staff, the generosity of our members, the increased outreach of our whole congregation all made a huge difference. Yet we know and confess that it was by God's grace alone that we have come this far.

Both realities – our efforts and God's promises – matter. Except it's more than that, too. It's not just that we can participate in God's mission in the world, it's also that we are blessed when we do. Martin Luther captures that conviction brilliantly in explaining what it means to pray "thy will be done." Luther writes, "The good and gracious will of God is done even without our prayer, but we pray in this petition that it may also be done among us." I love Luther's confidence in God's promise. God's will simply will be done, whether we pray for it or not. But we still have a part to play, and so we ask God to work in us and through us. Ultimately, what we do matters not because God is dependent on us, but because God wants us to experience the sheer joy, wonder, and power of being part of God's kingdom.

This grants us a tremendous amount of freedom. We don't have to come to church, to give generously, to share what we have, to reach out in love to others, to work for a more fair world. God will continue to be at work whether we participate in that work or not (and even if we resist it!). But we are invited to be a part of that good work and experience God's power and presence in our lives more fully.

I believe we have learned a lot over the last year. We've learned how important our in-person worship and gatherings are. We've learned how much our faith and congregation mean to us. And we've learned so many new ways to connect with each other. All of which leaves us poised for new ambitions, important endeavors, and grand dreams. And you are now invited to be a part of God's work here by offering your prayers, support, financial strength, and regular participation so that God's will may not just be done – it will! – but that it may be done among us.

All of which invites us to ask: what will we use our God-given freedom for? What, in other words, comes next? Again, God has set you free. You don't have to do anything to earn God's grace and love. But you get to do all kinds of things to participate in the ongoing work of God's kingdom. So, I encourage you to make use of your freedom and come to a Stewardship event and learn of our dreams for the coming year. Use your freedom and pledge your support to the vital ministries of this congregation and experience more deeply the blessing of being generous. Use your freedom every Sunday morning to join us in worship and be strengthened in your faith. Use your freedom to take a class and grow in faith, join a fellowship group and make new friends, volunteer in one of our outreach activities and help your neighbor. In all these ways and more, God continues to lead, guide, and bless us by inviting us into God's work. All with the promise that while our efforts matter, God will never, ever let us fall.

New Flower Fund

In an effort to continue to provide beautiful flowers for our main altars at each campus, a new Flower Fund has been established! The concept of individual flowers purchased for specific locations is changing into a fund that will provide altar flowers through collective donations. The donations will be directly applied to the members giving account and are consequently tax deductible.

The important personal dedications which are submitted by the donor will continue per usual. This meaningful gesture will be listed in the bulletin for an entire month rather than only one week and will allow more time for the dedication to be seen by others. These donations will give beauty to our altars and will provide a new way for special people to be remembered and honored as well as the opportunity to highlight celebrations of special events, or giving thanks for weddings, baptisms, anniversaries and birthdays.

See examples below:

September Altar Flower Donations:

In celebration of Jane Elizabeth Johnson's baptism

In honor of Jane Doe by her children

In thanksgiving for our Pastors - Johnson family

Thank you in advance for donating to the new Flower Fund and providing altar flowers to help beautify the sanctuaries! To place an order to donate flowers, please visit mtolivet.org/flower-fund and complete the form. After completing the form you will be redirected to a payment page to make your $50 donation. If you need assistance or have any questions, please contact Nancy Nelson at 612.767.2264 or nnelson@mtolivet.org.

Refreshed and Reimagined

The Mpls Campus has gone through many renovations over the last few months. The Mpls Campus Youth Center has a beautiful mural of the Cathedral of the Pines Chapel, new comfortable booths, tables, and chairs ready for our choirs and youth to enjoy this coming year.

The library has been renovated to accommodate additional seating for groups and another place for members and friends to come together to share in fellowship. Come and check it out when you come to church this fall, or at one of our Stewardship events.

Another exciting renovation at the Mpls Campus is that our Mount Olivet School of Music is expanding with the addition of an art studio. The Mount Olivet School of Music and the Arts will serve both our members and neighboring communities. It will welcome people of all ages and abilities to Mount Olivet not simply to do art but to be healed and transformed by it.

Last, but certainly not least, the lounge at the Mpls Campus is being reimaged and renovated. We are delighted to give this space the attention it deserves, while keeping the historic pieces present. We hope you continue to enjoy the lounge on Sundays or for small group gatherings or circle meetings.

DEVOTION

"For God all things are possible." – Mark 10:27

Has anyone else been inspired by the Olympic athletes competing this summer? Despite the tribulations of the pandemic, they persevered and followed their dreams in 2021.

What a great image for us as we enter a new program year at the church! When we find ourselves in seemingly dead-end places, Jesus reminds us that there is more in store for us.

In the Gospel of Mark, Jesus' disciples had many questions for him. Specifically in the tenth chapter, they wondered what they needed to do to get into the kingdom of heaven. Jesus told them that it's not really about what they did, but what God was doing for them. In many ways, it reminded them that God is God and they were not.

Similarly, when things seem impossible for us, may we know that they are not impossible for God.

This year's stewardship theme is "Endless Possibilities!" When we find ourselves in places of fear or worry about the future, when we think resources are scarce or our abilities are inadequate, know that Jesus' promises are true, "For God all things are possible."

— PASTOR FREEMAN

EVERYTHING YOU EVER WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TESTAMENT

So what is the New Testament? I'm serious. Yes, we read from this book almost every Sunday. Yes, many of us read it in between Sundays, too. And, yes, it shares the core of our Christian faith by telling the story of Jesus. But, even given all that, have you ever stopped to wonder what it really is? For instance, why do we call it a "Testament," and what relation does it have to that other Testament? And, while we may be familiar with the Gospels, what about some of the other books – anyone read Philemon or Titus lately? And what's going on with Revelation, perhaps the strangest and scariest of biblical books?

This year, we're going to continue diving deep into the Bible with each other by following the pattern we started – and enjoyed so much! – last year: by asking questions! Like, what is a Gospel, anyway? Who was Paul, and why do his letters make up so much of the New Testament? And, seriously, what is up with Revelation?

Lots of questions, lots of discussion, lots of learning, and lots of fun. That's what we are planning on this coming year, beginning in October, as part of our Living the Message series at Mount Olivet. You can participate in-person or via recorded videos, and there are optional small group discussions if you'd like. Pastor Ruud and I are really excited to introduce you to the wild, wooly, and wonderful stories that make up our New Testament. See you in class!

Forest Bathing and Stargazing

Throughout the pandemic, many people discovered or perhaps rediscovered the gifts of nature, particularly its capacity to reduce stress. They headed outdoors to exercise, relax, and enjoy themselves. They went on camping trips, visited national parks, and flocked to local playgrounds.

Psychologists studied and wrote about this phenomenon, demonstrating that time spent in nature contributes to mental, emotional, and physical well-being. It reduces worry and increases calm. It reminds us that we belong to a vast cosmos: from the tiniest blade of grass to the farthest flung star in space. We belong. We belong to a created order that has persisted for billions of years, and that will continue, long after each of us is gone.

From a Christian spiritual perspective, time outdoors enjoying the beauty and multiplicity of nature reminds us that God upholds all living things in wisdom and in care.

What recent activities have connected you to the natural world?

We recommend giving forest bathing, the simple method of being calm and quiet amongst the trees, observing nature around you while breathing deeply, a try. In July, participants of Renewing Connections: A Retreat for Women, learned about the art of forest bathing in an afternoon session led by Kristen Mastel, Master Naturalist. Through mindfulness, breathing, and sensory exercises, the women explored the sights and sounds of the Conference & Retreat Center. They watched the blades of grass sway in the wind and noticed how the sunlight danced through the leaves. They listened to the calls of the birds and even tasted the wind.

Next time you find yourself outdoors, take a moment to pause and truly immerse yourself in God's amazing creation. Bathe in the beauty of the earth. Soak in the calm rhythm of nature. Remember that just as God cares for the birds and butterflies, and for the land and the water, so God cares for you. Or join us in September and gaze at the awe-inspiring night sky (see the sidebar for more details about our upcoming stargazing event). To feel connected to the world around us is a gift. But an even greater gift is knowing that we belong within it and to it.

YOUTH MINISTRY

Your youth staff: Geoff, Annie, Anna, Julia, and Sam, along with your choir directors Dr. Claflin, Mrs. Jenkins, and your new West Cathedral and Chancel Choirs director, Mr. Parsell – can't wait to see you! We have an exciting fall planned and can't wait to get started. Why We Love Being Involved at Church

My whole life the thing that consistently brings my siblings and me together is church. We are always talking over each other on who has the funnier or more embarrassing story, or who Dr. Claflin and the Youth Staff love more (the correct answer is me!) Between Cathedral Choir, Hi-League, and Circle of Friends, I drive to church about four times on an average week. The reason I keep coming back is that I always leave feeling like I'm not alone and that people love and support me for being me, not a version of myself I portray so others like me. I always thought church would be a big part of my life because I watched how much my siblings loved it, but I never realized that it would give me my best friends and happiest memories.

—LIBBY GLIEDEN

My name is Nolan Fuzzey, and I'm going to be a senior at Wayzata High School. This is how I introduce myself to new people and it's also how we have always introduced ourselves at Mount Olivet during youth events. When we all circle up and introduce ourselves, I watch and listen to everyone recite their schools and know that almost every time not one of them will say Wayzata. Admittedly, this used to bother me. I used to be jealous of all the kids who went to Edina or Minneapolis who had plenty of friends they already knew. However, what I learned very quickly is that it's never hard to make friends at Mount Olivet. Going to church for events made it easy to become familiar with others. This mutual familiarity eventually led to forming some of my best friends. The friendships and memories that I have made at Mount Olivet represent to me what makes church important and special.

Growing up at Mount Olivet, I've had the opportunity to be involved in activities at both the Minneapolis and West Campuses. Some of my favorites include Cathedral Choir at Minneapolis Campus as well as being on the Mount Olivet Youth Board. At the West Campus, I have enjoyed the campfire Hi-League events on Sunday nights and MO United during the week. This year I'll be participating in the Circle of Friends at the Minneapolis Campus. I started in Cherub Choir and now I'm a part of the Cathedral Choir Tenor section in Minneapolis, as well as an Officer on the Mount Olivet Youth Board. The Hi-League events at both campuses are a highlight of my week, both to see my friends I don't normally see and to participate in the fun events the Youth Staff puts on for us.

—OWEN SLINDE

In the past year, church has grown to be an important factor in my life that I have learned to cherish in a special way following quarantine. Before Mount Olivet went digital, I didn't take full advantage of the different opportunities available to me. I would mentally make excuses resulting in lost time that I told myself I would make up for in later days. But, this past year has taught me that "later days" aren't always guaranteed and how important it is to fill my days with God's love through attendance and relationships at church. Last fall, I switched gears and began to fully engage with the church and everything it had to offer to me. I did this by forming better relationships with the Youth staff, Pastors and fellow Hi-Leaguers, and making church a priority in my schedule.

WE KNOW A PLACE THAT WE CAN CALL OUR OWN

The summer of 2021 at Cathedral of the Pines has been everything we dreamed of and so much more! As I write this in mid-August, I am sitting in the Koja listening to the sounds of camp, and I promise, I will never take these sounds for granted for the rest of my life! It is music to the ears! I can hear the campers singing Jesus Loves Me in the education building while they are in bible class. I can hear the boy counselors and workstaff playing a heated game of softball on the upper diamond. I can see the girl counselors watching the game, making friendship bracelets and giggling about something funny. Nurse Heidi is playing with the camp dogs Reuben and Copper in front of the Health Center. The Sysco truck is making a food delivery so our volunteer cooks can make some more delicious meals!

Each evening in Chapel has been a gift. Walking into the chapel and seeing beautiful Lake Caribou and the cross across the lake; listening to the sweet voices of campers singing their hearts out during the singspiration; staff, counselors, workstaff and campers sharing their talents during special music; the incredible pastors and camp staff preaching the word of God and sharing their faith experience. You can hear a pin drop. The highlight is open prayer when everyone at camp has the opportunity to pray out loud.

Thank you to everyone who made this summer possible! It was an absolute blast! A summer filled with laughter, joy, quiet, stunts, softball, talent shows, swimming... a faith-filled summer where we realized the importance of faith community. A summer where we saw and felt the presence of God each day. I am already psyched for the summer of 2022!! And, I can't wait to see you in church at Mount Olivet this fall! —KRISTI YOUNGDAHL, DIRECTOR OF CATHEDRAL OF THE PINES CAMP

"Working up at COP for the summer has been so fulfilling and fun. After a long and lonely COVID year, camp has brought me back to life! Camp has allowed me to build relationships with others as well as grow in my relationship with God. I'm so thankful for this summer at COP!"
—ISABEL ST.DENNIS, MS. FUN COP CAMP STAFF

"I love being a Counselor at COP, because it allows me to build a stronger relationship with God and my campers. The relationships I've built at camp this summer mean so much to me, and I'm excited to see my campers and camp friends at church and youth events this fall!"
